City Council Petitions Minister of Health for Establishment of Hospital District—Many Trees and Shrubs to Be Planted in Memorial Park—City Takes Complete Possession of Exhibition Grounds

His Worship Mayor Montgomery and all the Aldermen were in their seats at the regular session of the City Council on Tuesday evening, which started at 8:35 and the business was not completed until 12:40.

After the adoption of the minutes of the last meeting, Mr. Chadwick addressed the Council respecting the drilling of other wells in the city. He was informed that no decision could be made for some time.

Several citizens interviewed Council regarding the payment of back taxes. Several letters were also read in the same connection. Satisfactory arrangements were made in every case.

A letter from the office of the Dept. of Interior, Calgary, referring to wells in the city, was read and filed.

C. H. Russell reported on the replacement of the hydrant broken by Logan, and the collection of the claim. Mr. Russell was instructed to proceed with the collection.

C. H. Russell wrote the condition of a family in the city which might become a charge on the city. The Council cannot see its way clear to give relief, and the mother will be advised to join her husband who is in another province.

The Calgary Power Co. Ltd., wrote that they would investigate the water department at an early date with a view to submitting a proposition to the Council to purchase. Letter filed.

A firm in Seattle wrote wanting to know if Wetaskiwin had its electric light and waterworks department for sale. This was referred to Utilities Committee for reply.

Mr. Mitchell of Edmonton, submitted plan and profile for culvert under C.P.R. tracks north of the mill, which were filed.

The Commissioners of Edmonton wrote that Mr. Cunningham, superintendent of Edmonton power plant, would be able to report on the utilities of Wetaskiwin in a few days. Referred to Utilities Committee.

The indemnity insurance policy on youth offenders in penitentiaries, which has been under consideration by the federal government for several years, is expected to be adopted as a policy during the present session of parliament.

The minister of justice has already given notice on the House of Commons order paper of a bill respecting juvenile delinquents. It is understood that its provisions relate to special treatment in the penitentiaries for youth of 16, 17 and 18 years of age. Establishment of two special institutions, one in eastern and the other in western Canada, is expected.

No less than 46 inmates of the country's penal institutions are under 18 years of age. Of this number 37 are given their nationality as Canadian, 4 as American, 1 as Italian, 1 as a Newfoundlander, 1 as Scottish and two as Norwegian.

There is somewhat of an anomaly involved in the whole situation. As long ago as 1895 the late superintendent of penitentiaries Douglas Stewart, and the present one, General Hughes, drafted the report which resulted in the establishment of the Borstal institutions in England. These institutions have since become famous for their success in the reclamation of delinquents of youthful years. While reform in Canada has been at a practical standstill.

Important Meeting of Sports Association on Friday, 26th

The annual meeting of the Wetaskiwin Sports Association has been called for Friday evening, April 26th, in the City Council chamber, at 8 o'clock, when reports will be presented respecting the activities of the officers during the past year, this season's operations discussed and officials selected to guide the Association's affairs this year.

The success which attended the efforts of the Association last year are well-known and warrant a very large and representative attendance of citizens as well as people from the surrounding district.

The Alberta Branch of the A.A.U. of C. have asked the Wetaskiwin Sports Association to hold the Alberta the Wetaskiwin Fire Brigade was renewed. The premium is $70.00.

Building permits were issued to A. N. Schreffels and R. A. Ritz. The following accounts were passed for payment: General, $961.35; Electric Light, $478.28; Waterworks, $87.07; Supplementary, $170.89.

Chief of Police Ringzett submitted a report on the residence of Jas. Gould last year, also a letter from G. Baker, secretary of M. D. Montgomery. Copy will be sent to Mr. Baker, and letters filed.

A representative from the department has condemned 16 meters in the city, and the Utilities Committee ordered 24 new meters. Action of Committee was ratified.

The Public Works Committee recommended that four signs be erected at the entrance to the city, containing the following wording: "Wetaskiwin, speed limit 20 miles; 10 miles at intersections." Referred back to Committee to report on the cost.

The offer of Dr. N. A. Johnson to purchase block, excepting five lots, near Agricultural Grounds, for $100, was accepted.

The Fire Committee was instructed to offer the horse drawn hose wagon for sale.

Ald. Howatt, chairman of Parks Committee, reported on behalf of the Parks Board, that $600 worth of shrubs and trees be purchased for Memorial Park from Prairie Nurseries, and these will be planted by the city. The total cost not to exceed $1500.00. After discussion, the recommendation was adopted.

Ald. Howatt brought up the matter of the formation of a Municipal Hospital District, and submitted the following resolution, which was unanimously passed:

"Whereas it is desirable to establish a Municipal Hospital District in and adjacent to the City of Wetaskiwin under the provision of the Municipal Hospitals Act, 1923,

"Resolved, that the Council of the Municipalities of the City of Wetaskiwin do present a petition to the Minister of Health of the Province of Alberta for the establishment of a Hospital District pursuant to the provisions of the Municipal Hospitals Act, 1923, said petition hereto attached."

It was further resolved that the Mayor and Secretary-Treasurer of the City of Wetaskiwin be and they are hereby authorized to sign said petition for and on behalf of the said city.

An amendment was introduced to the effect that the Wetaskiwin Council go on record as being in favor of the Municipal Hospital idea and that the Hospital Board be notified of this resolution. This was supported by only the mover and seconder, who later voted for the resolution, making it unanimous.

By-law No. 655 amending the license by-law was then introduced and received its first reading. In the second reading a decision could not be arrived at regarding certain fees and the by-law was referred back to Committee.

By-law No. 656 respecting a grant of $750 to the Wetaskiwin Exhibition Association Limited, which will pay up its liabilities, was passed. In consideration of this, the city comes into possession of the property of the Exhibition Association.

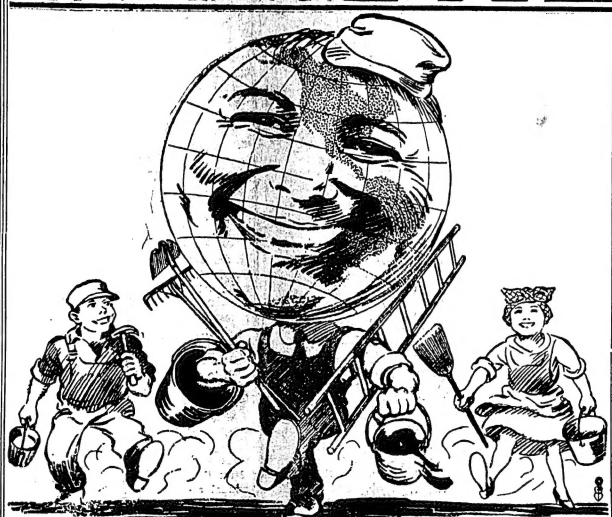

Meeting adjourned.

Many farmers in this community are beginning to work on the land. P. J. S. Blundell, farm manager of the MacEachern Milling Company, expects to have 75 to 100 acres of wheat in this week.

Junior Track and Field championships here again this year, and it is quite possible that another big championship meet will be held here, in which the fair sex would participate, with Miss Norma Chiddy defending her honors as all-round champion of the province. The season's program will be read big one, no doubt, if the attendance at the annual meeting gives encouragement.

Some of the officers of the Association, who did much towards the success of last year's operations, are retiring this season, and new blood will therefore be infused into the executive, and this is one reason why it is imperative that the attendance be large and representative.

Clean Up!

"Mother—get a broom,
Son—you take a hoe,
Dirt and grime and Rubbish got to go!"

"Father—grab a brush,
Sister—the dustpan,
Pitch in—everybody—
Clean up 'spick and span!'"

The world has donned its overalls and is stepping out for its annual Spring Clean Up drive. Join in—folks! Out with the ladders, rakes and spades. Get busy with all unrightly dirt, dust and rubbish. Clean up. Paint up. Fix up. Shine up. And Be Happy.

MACDONALD WINS ORATORICAL CONTEST FINAL

Edmonton, April 13.—Before a packed audience in the McDougall church, Walter B. MacDonald, of Red Deer, 17-year-old finalist in the Alberta Oratorical Contest, defeated Gwendoline Grant, 17-year-old competitor from Grande Prairie, in the final competition, held here Friday evening.

A feature of the evening, indicative of the widespread interest aroused by the contest, was the fact that hundreds of people were turned away from the church doors before the start of the final competition.

Both competitors took as their subject "The Peoples of Canada." Walter MacDonald received the winner's prize of $200 and Miss Grant is awarded the loser's tribute, a donation of $50.

TRAINS MAY SPEED 10 MILES AN HOUR

London.—It looks as though speed on British railways is likely to be increased in the near future.

Locomotive designers of the great railways are trying to produce engines of greater speed and power. It is predicted that the day is not far distant when express trains will rush along at a speed very much nearer 100 miles an hour than they do today.

Already an engine—the Duke of Connaught—owned by the Great Western railway, has traveled at 102 miles an hour with the Atlantic mails.

MRS. BLUNDELL BADLY BURNED WHEN HOME IS DESTROYED

The citizens of Wetaskiwin were shocked on Friday morning last to learn that Mrs. Peter Blundell met with a very painful accident, in her effort to hasten the fire, she poured some coal oil onto the fire and in a flash the oil exploded in her hands with the result that she was badly burned about the arms and body. She rushed out of the house and Mr. Blundell, who was quite near, assisted in extinguishing the flames by throwing her into a tank of water. She was immediately rushed to the Wetaskiwin hospital, where, fortunately, it was found that the burns would not prove fatal.

After assisting his wife, Mr. Blundell rushed into the kitchen, which was a mass of flames and groped around until he found their young son, aged 2½ years, and rescued him in the nick of time. Their baby was in the kitchen at the time, in the arms of a friend, who rushed out of the house to safety.

The home was completely destroyed by the fire in a very short time, and none of the contents could be saved, notwithstanding the fact that many friends rushed out from the city to give whatever assistance they could, but arrived too late. We understand the loss both on the house and contents is partly covered by insurance.

At time of writing, Mrs. Blundell is resting as easily as can be expected in the Wetaskiwin hospital, but it will be some time before she can leave that institution.

RING PRESENTATION TO MR. M. R. HARDY

Mr. M. R. Hardy, the local district representative of the Canada Life Assurance Company, was last week called to Edmonton to attend a gathering of the Canadian Life Assurance Company's representatives at the Macdonald Hotel, Mr. A. Gordon Ramsay, General Superintendent of the Company at Toronto, presented to Mr. Hardy a heavy gold signal ring engraved with the Canada Life crest in recognition of the splendid volume of business written by Mr. Hardy during the year 1928, and with the ring Mr. Hardy also wins a week's trip at his Company's expense to the 1929 Canada Life convention of Western representatives to be held at Jasper Lodge, Jasper, the last week in May.

At this meeting, Mr. Prang, branch manager for Northern Alberta, also commented on Mr. Hardy's success, pointing out that the large volume of business written by Mr. Hardy was done during his first full year in the life insurance business.

Mr. Hardy is not only energetic in his efforts, but loyal and enthusiastic about his Company, which is Canada's oldest with eighty-four years of success, and of the ten largest Companies in Canada, still the fastest growing.

We wish Mr. Hardy still further success in his splendid work.

Special Meeting Will Be Held Tomorrow and Council of Board of Trade Is Asked to Also Attend

At the monthly meeting of the Wetaskiwin Hospital Board held on Wednesday evening last, the Municipal Hospital scheme was discussed at some length and the following resolution was unanimously passed:

"Moved that, in view of the statement of the Minister of Health, the Honorable Mr. George Hoadley, that a Community Hospital is not a practical proposition; because it would have no corporate powers, and therefore could not borrow money, and would have to depend for its support on voluntary grants, liable to cancellation at any time;

"And having regard to the responsibility now resting on this Board of taking immediate steps to increase and improve our present hospital accommodation;

"We, the members of the said Board, wish to record our approval of the Municipal Hospital plan as outlined by the Honorable Mr. Hoadley before the Board of Trade on Monday, the 8th April, 1929;

"With the object in view of securing the erection of a Municipal Hospital large enough to adequately serve the needs of this City and the surrounding district, the active assistance and co-operation of the Board of Trade is requested to obtain the necessary signatures from petitioners in the contemplated contributing areas for presentation to the Minister of Health to bring about the formation of a Municipal Hospital District.

Our opinion, the said Hospital District, if and when established, should cover as wide an area as possible to assure the erection of a fully equipped hospital of not less than 40-bed capacity.

"That the Hospital Board arrange to hold a special meeting on Friday, the 19th inst., to discuss the formation of a Municipal Hospital District, and that all members of the Hospital Board be asked to attend, and that the Council of the local Board of Trade be invited to be present."

The matron submitted her report for the month of March, in which she stated 71 patients had been admitted with a total number of hospital days of 523. There were 36 admissions, 8 births and 4 deaths.

The matter of extra beds for the hospital was referred to the House Committee, with power to act if conditions arising necessitated a purchase.

Accounts amounting to $624.29 were passed for payment.

SITTINGS OF SUPREME COURT CONCLUDED LAST WEEK

In addition to the cases referred to in our report of last week, the following cases were heard by The Hon. Mr. Justice Ford at the sittings of the Supreme Court held here last week.

After the evidence had been taken and argument held, a settlement was arrived at between the parties. J. K. Burgess, Esq., K.C. (Camrose) for the plaintiff; S. W. Field, Esq., K.C. Knox for the plaintiff, S. B. Woods, Esq., K.C., and R. W. Manley for the defendant.

Geological Story of Alberta Is Told by Prin. McLennan

Principal McLennan of the Wetaskiwin High School, gave a fine instructive address in the form of a Geological Story of Alberta, at the luncheon of the Kiwanis Club Monday evening. It was listened to with keen interest by all Kiwanians present. He introduced his subject by a geological classification: Pre-Cambrian, Paleozoic, Mesozoic and Tertiary, and explained how it was possible by means of index fossils and lithological characteristics to determine the various formations in different parts of the world. He gave some broad details of each.

Pre-Cambrian Period in Canada at large. All of Canada and the United States was covered by a great ocean, save three rocky islands or foundations stones—Selkirk Mountains in the West, Laurentian Shield about Hudson Bay, and Appalachian Range in the East. On these three old rugged reefs was built up Canada as we know it today. This building process was carried out by deposition of sediment along these three stone lives and the gradual rising of intervening lava areas due to great diastrophic movements. He showed how these three areas are of great economic importance to Canada. In Selkirks and gold range, we have lead, silver (galena), zinc, gold and many subsidiary minerals. In the Pre-Cambrian Rocks, about Superior, we have great iron and copper deposits. Rocks of New

OPEN ROADS IN WINTER

In view of proposals to keep roads open in winter in western Canada, the results of an experiment tried in the state of Maine are of interest here. There is a heavy snowfall in Maine and the roads there become impassable in winter if nothing is done to clear them. During the past winter about one thousand miles of highway were kept open for traffic by the use of 150 tractors and 50 trucks equipped with snow plows. The cost worked out at $50 a mile and was shared by the state and by municipalities whose roads were cleared. The expense was much more offset by higher receipts from gasoline tax. Consumption of motor fuel increased by more than one-half in the four-month period, De-

"Thirty Days Hath September"

Arriving at Halifax recently, aboard the Anchor-Donaldson liner Athens from British Columbia, Mr. B. Cotsworth, of Vancouver, calendar expert for the League of Nations, declared that in a year or so Canada and the whole civilized world will adopt the new simplified calendar of 13 months to each year, and 28 days to every month. "The old calendar misrepresents business production because some months have more Tuesdays or an additional Sunday, he said. Forty years of study on this subject of his have convinced him that our school-day rhyme might as well be laid aside now.

women like sugar draws flies in summer. But when the man comes tired and weary with the day's struggle and needs a pal to understand his mood, one who will lavish friendship and love and understanding, often all she needs him with his complaints and grumbles, is lost. Only the man who gets teased. Not every man or woman is like this, friendly outside, snarling at home. But too many of us are that way.

Be friendly. Cultivate friendship. In the garden of life friendship is one of the choicest flowers that blooms. If neglected it will run to waste and become a mere weed. Uncultivated, friendship decays and declines. But nurtured it thrives and grows more beautiful as the days pass.

Be friendly with your employees, if you are an employer. Know them, be interested in them and their families. If they're in trouble, help them out. Think of them as belonging to your family. Invest friendship in them and see the dividends you'll get back. If you are an employee, be friendly to the boss. Don't be hostile to him in thought, or word, or act. He's paying you, anyhow, and while he may be making money out of you still you work for him and should be faithful. Think of yourself as working with him. Perhaps by and by, you'll be a real partner; who knows?

Be friendly to animals, to little children, to the unfortunate and lonely. It will be repaid with interest. And as a last thought, be friendly to yourself. Look after yourself, your health, your condition, your home, your family, your business. If you make a mistake, or even commit some deadly sin, forgive yourself. If we ought to be "devoted to one another," as the Bible says, we should also be tenderhearted to ourselves, forgiving ourselves when we do wrong. Regrets are vain remorse. Foolish. Forgive yourself in friendly fashion and begin again, profiting by your mistakes. Be friendly to yourself.

THE EDITOR'S WOES

If there is one passage of Scripture which does not apply to an editor it is certainly that which says, "Woe unto you when all men speak well of you." Dr. Dan Brummitt, a well known editor, thinks that, "an editorial chair must be a frightful piece of furniture when its occupant can't get some joy out of the letters that are meant to scorch his hide." Another editor says that about the meanest thing he knows is the one who sent him a very hot letter, and it was so full of the "real thing" in abusing the editor that he was overweight and the editor had to pay extra postage to hear himself, abused. Another good brother got so mad at the editor that he promptly sat down and wrote, bidding him to stop his paper at once, but he was so excited he forgot to sign his name.

Another fine-spirited fellow wrote that he liked the paper very much as long as it agreed with him, but of late the editor had gone squarely against his opinion and so the paper must stop. Still another wrote that for two years his paper had had a standing insult on the wrapper every week and he could hear it no longer; they must stop his paper. His name had appeared on the cover "upside down." What would the poor editor do if he lost his grin? An editor without a sense of humor is little better than a suicide.

But not all letters are kicks. There come at times most refreshing commendations from old subscribers who tell how they love the paper which has been coming to their homes since early childhood, and they look upon it as an old and well-tried friend. God bless all such homes! This is the spontaneous and heartfelt prayer of the editor whenever he receives such a letter.

The editor does not always please all his readers. He does not aim to. He does not expect to. The editor who is afraid to differ from his readers is too weak a man to edit a paper. The editor has his own convictions and if he did not he would be completely disqualified for his task. And he is by no means infallible. The editor will blunder just as others do, but he should always be brave enough to admit it. He is in a special sense the mouthpiece of the rank and file of the people, and the columns of

NINTH INSTALLMENT

"Yes."
"Lumley, twenty-five years have passed away, and he is free."
"But, Miss Briscoe?" he asked, bewildered. "How does all this concern her?"

"She is his niece."
"His niece? His niece?"
"Lord Lumley could say nothing. With all the self-satisfaction of a man his thoughts were centered round one point. Would this new development hinder his purpose, or was it favorable to him?"

"Leonardo's sister, Lumley, was my dear friend. She married a man named Briscoe, and died very soon afterward. Margherita is their daughter, and Lumley, there is no English blood in her veins. She is a Marioni! I can see his eyes and his forehead every time I look at her. They seem to tell me that that wild old still lives; that some day he will stretch out his hand and redeem that murderous threat. Lumley, there have been times when it has terrified me to look at that girl."

His face was clearing. A smile even began to dawn upon his lips.

"Why, mother, don't you see that so far as Miss Briscoe is concerned that is all fancy," he said. "You feel in that way towards her simply because she happens to resemble the Count di Marioni. Isn't that a little unfair to her? What can she know of an oath which was sworn five-and-twenty years ago, long before she was born. Why, I don't suppose that she ever heard of it."

"She smiled a little sadly."
"Lumley, I do not attempt to defend my feeling. Of course it is absurd to connect her with it, really."
"I was sure that you would say so, mother."

"But, Lumley, although I cannot defend it the feeling remains. Listen. No woman has known greater happiness than I have. My life has been sometimes almost too perfect, and yet

I never altogether forgot those passionate words of Leonardo's. They lay like a shadow across my life, darkening and growing broader as the years of his confinement passed away. The time of his release came at last—only a few months ago, Lumley, I saw him."

"You saw him? Where?"
"In London, Lumley! Why did he come, almost on the day of his release here to England? It was a country which he hated in his younger days, and yet, instead of visiting his old home, his love for which was almost a passion, instead of lingering in those sunny southern towns where many friends still remained who would have received him with open arms, he came straight to London alone. I found him in a hotel there, broken down, and almost, as it were, on the threshold of death! Yet, when he saw me, when he heard my voice, the old passion

Miss Briscoe Enters the Room

blazed out. Lumley, I prayed to him for forgiveness, and he scorned me. He had never forgotten! He would never forgive! He pointed to his person, his white hairs, to all the terrible evidences of his long imprisonment, and once more, with the same passion which had trembled in his tone twenty-five years ago, he cursed me! It was horrible! I fled from that place like a haunted woman, and since then, Lumley, I have been haunted. Every feature in the girl's magnificent face, and every movement of her figure, reminds me that she is a Marioni!"

She had risen and was standing by his side, a beautiful, but a suffering woman. He took her into his arms and kissed her forehead.

"Mother, you have too much imagination," he said gently. "Look at the matter seriously. Granted that this old man still harbors a senseless resentment against you. Yet what could he do? He forgets the days in which he lives, and the country to which you belong! Vendettas and romantic romances, such as he may have dreamt of five-and-twenty years ago, are extinct even in his own land; here, they cannot be taken seriously at all!"

She shivered a little, and looked into his face as though comforted in some measure.

"That is what I say to myself, Lumley," she said, "but there are times when the old dread is too strong for me wholly to crush it. I am not an Englishwoman, you know; I come of a more superstitious race!"

"I am sorry that Miss Briscoe should be the means of bringing these unpleasant thoughts to you," he remarked thoughtfully. "Mother!"

"Yes, Lumley."

"Would it be a great trouble to you if—some day—I asked you to receive her as a daughter?"

She stood quite still and shivered. Her face was suddenly of a marble pallor.

"You—you mean this, Lumley?"

"I mean that I care for her, mother."

"You have not—spoken to her?"

"No. I should have not said anything to you yet, only it pained me to think that there was anything between you—any person, I mean. I thought that if you knew, you would try and overcome it."

"I cannot!"

"Mother!"

"Lumley, I cannot! She looks at me out of his eyes; she speaks to me with his voice; something tells me that she bears in her heart his hate towards me. You do not know these Marionis! They are one in hate and one in love; unchanging and hard as the rocks on which their castle towers. Even Margherita herself, in the old days, never forgave me for sending Leonardo to prison, although I saved her lover's life as well as mine. Lumley, you have said nothing to her?"

"Not yet."

"She would not marry you! I tell you that in her heart she hates us all! Sometimes I fancy that she is here—only—"

"Mother!"

He laid his hand firmly upon her white trembling arm. She looked around, following his eyes. Margherita, pale and proud, was standing upon the threshold, with a great bunch of white hacinths in the bosom of her black dress.

"Am I intruding?" she asked quietly. "I will come down some other evening."

Lord Lumley sprang forward to stop her; but his mother was the first to recover herself.

"Pray don't go away, Margherita," she said, with perfect self-possession. "Only a few minutes ago we were complaining that you came down so seldom. Lumley, open the piano, and get Miss Briscoe's songs."

He was by her side in a moment, but he found time for an admiring glance toward his mother. She had taken up a paper knife, and was cutting the pages of her book. It was the sautoir-faire of a great lady.

Letter from Count Leonardo di Marioni to Miss M. Briscoe, care of the Earl of St. Maurice, Mallory Grange, Lincolnshire.

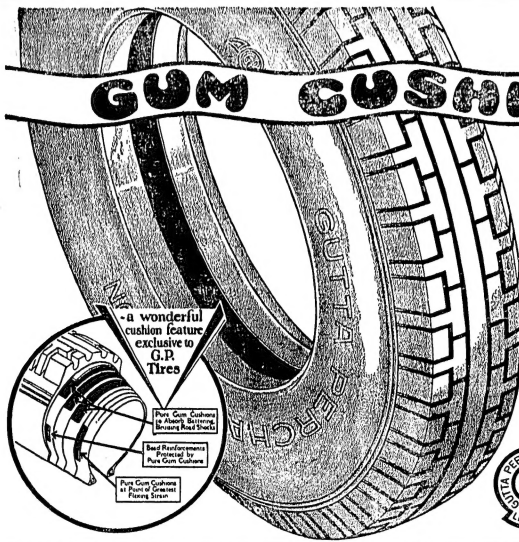

"Hotel de Paris, Turin."

"My beloved Niece: Alas! I have but another disappointment to recount. I arrived here last night, and early this morning I visited the address which I obtained at Florence with so much difficulty. The house was shut up. From inquiries made with caution among the neighbors I learned that Andrea Paschuli had left a few months before for Rome. Thither I go in search of him."

"The delay is irksome, but it is necessary. Although my desire for the day of my vengeance to come is as strong as ever, I would not have the shadow of a suspicion rest upon you. Truly, yours will be no crime, but the world and the courts of justice would have it otherwise. You will, in verity, be but the instrument. Upon my head be the guilt, as mine will be the exceeding joy, when the thing for which I crave is accomplished. Bless you, my child, that you have elected to aid me in carrying out this most just request! Bless you, my child, that you have chosen to bring peace into the heart of one who has known great suffering!"

"Your last letter was short; yet I do not wonder at it. What is there you can find to say to me, while our great purpose remains thus in abeyance? My health continues good. I am thankful to say, yet, were it otherwise, I know that my strength would waver with me till my oath is accomplished. Till that day shall come death itself has no power over me. Even though its shadow lay across my path I could still defy it. Think not that I am blaspheming, Margherita, or that I believe in no God. I believe in a God of justice, and he will award me my right. Oh, that the time may be short, for I am growing weary. Life is very burdensome, save only for its end."

"Sometimes, my beloved Margherita, you have sought to lighten the deep gloom through which I struggle, by picturing the happy days we may yet spend together in some far-distant country, where the shadows of this great selfish world barely reach, and its mighty roar and tumult sound but as a faint, low murmur. I have listened, but I have answered not; for in my heart I know that it will never be. Those days will never come. I have shrunk from throwing a chill upon your warm, generous heart; but of late I have wondered whether I do well in thus silently deceiving you. For, Margherita, there is no such time of peaceful happiness in store for me. I am dying! Nay, do not start! Do not pity me! Do not fear! I know it so well; and I feel no pang, no sorrow. The limit of my days is fixed—not in actual days or weeks, but by events. I shall live to see my desire accomplished, and then I shall die. The light may flicker, but, till then, it will not go out. You will ask me: Who am I that I dare to fix a limit to an existence which God alone controls? I cannot tell you, Margherita, why I know, or how, yet it is surely so. The day which sees me free of my vow will also be the day of my death."

"Trouble not, my child, at this thought, nor wonder why I can write of the end of my days so calmly. Ask yourself rather what further life could mean for me. There is no joy which I desire; my worn-out frame could find no pleasure in dragging out a tasteless and profitless existence. I look for death as one looks for his couch who has toiled and labored through the heat of the day. I shall find there rest and peace. I have no other desire."

"For yourself, Margherita, have no fear. I have made your fortune my care, and God grant that it may be a happy one. Honest men have made good profit out of my lands during my imprisonment. I have wealth to leave, and it is yours. The Castle of the Marionis will be yours, and well I know you will raise once more and uphold the might; though fallen, traditions of our race. I leave all fearlessly in your hands, at your entire disposal. Only one thing I beg of you, and that without fear of refusal. Marry not an Englishman. Marry one of the nobility of our own island, if you can find one worthy of you; if not, there are nobles of Italy with whom your alliance would be an honor, and also a profit. You will be rich as you are beautiful; and the first lady in Italy, our distant kinswoman, Angela di Carloti, will be your guardian and your friend. May you be very, very happy, dearest; and all that comes to you you will deserve, for you have lightened the heart of a weary old man, whose blessing is yours, now and for ever."

"Leonardo di Marioni."

Nervous Breakdown HEART PAINED HER COULD NOT SLEEP

Many a woman who should be strong and healthy, full of life and energy is bound by the shackles of ill-health. Some disease or constitutional disturbance has left its mark in the form of a weak heart, shattered nerves, impoverished blood and an exhausted condition of the whole system.

Those troubled in this way will find in a remedy that will supply food for the exhausted nerves, that will strengthen the weak heart and invigorate the whole system.

Miss Florence Clark, 296 Smith St., Halifax, N.S., writes: "I am a telephone operator, and some months ago had a very bad nervous breakdown. My heart pained me a great deal, and my nerves were so bad I could not sleep at night. I tried many medicines, but did not get much relief until I started to take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I only used one box, and I just have to write and tell you how thankful I am for your wonderful remedy. I am now able to sleep soundly, and haven't any horrible pains."

GEOLOGICAL STORY

Ontario, contain their silver, cobalt, nickel, copper and gold deposits, also the copper deposits of Eastern townships of Quebec, so that great mineral wealth has been given to Canada by these old Pre-Cambrian rocks. Regarding the Pre-Cambrian rocks in Alberta, we have an area of 14,000 square miles of these rocks in the north-eastern corner of Alberta. In recent times some traces of low forms of plants—algae—have been found in these metamorphosed sediments, indicating that some life existed along the old shore lines of Pre-Cambrian times. Silurian beds of Silurian formation are found along this Pre-Cambrian area in the North-East of Alberta, also some Silurian has been identified further south of the Peace and Athabasca. The salt springs on Salt River, 25 miles west of Fort Smith, from which a few tons of salt were recovered many years ago by the Hudson's Bay Company and missions of the north.

Devonian formation is found overlying the Silurian and this represents the upper Devonian possibly. At McMurray the upper Devonian is overlaid by the bituminous sands of the McMurray formation. Mr. McLennan gave some idea of the immense reserve of oil and hydrocarbons stored in the 140 stretch of bituminous outcropping on the Athabasca. Next occurs a great break in the Northern formation, where we find cretaceous formations lying comfortably on top of the Devonian. In Southern Alberta, in the western part, this break is not so pronounced, as we find Triassic and Jurassic shales of the lower Mesozoic times. The cretaceous rocks are of great interest in Alberta, represented at the base by the Kootenay coal formation, from which coal is mined in the Crow's Nest Pass, at Bankhead, Cammore, in Banff area, at Nordegg, and again in the Brule area, east of Jasper. He described something of the flora which we find fossilized in the Kootenay shales, including great fern like trees and plants of the sub-tropical nature. Then deposited in the great inland sea of Central Alberta we have the Belly River formation (another important coal horizon), then the more or less shallow sea deposit of the Bearsapaw shales in the south-eastern part are finally at the top of the Cretaceous, the widely extended Edmonton formation, also coal bearing. Fossil remains of these times indicate profuse vegetation of a tropical or sub-tropical nature.

He also described conditions when the great Reptilian Dinosaurs held sway over the swampy interior of Alberta, and their sudden disappearance due to lack of adaptation to more modern terrestrial conditions.

Then comes the great rise of the Rocky Mountains in the West, which great movement no doubt helped to bring the western plains up to the present dry lava state.

The Tertiary Period represents the appearance of Alberta more as we know it today, but even now we have the great inland sea overlying the Edmonton formation, and in this sea was deposited an extensive formation of sandstone and shale known as the Paskapoo. Then more recent still we have the highest sediment of all, as represented in the Miocene of the Cypress and Head Hills. In these we found our first fossilized mammalian fauna. The high formation of Miocene alone escaped the great erosion period when the glaciers swept south and on over the 49th parallel, transporting soils, sweeping off forests and forming many lakes, and in general changing directions of drainage. Finally, after all the great changes, we have the Province of Sunny Alberta, for the time being at peace with the world, and with its great hopes for the future. Mr. McLennan finished his able address by a fitting story indicative of the hope for success that is always uppermost in a prospector's mind.

Farm Loan Act passed by both Dominion and Provincial governments, and which will become operative in Alberta within the near future following the appointment of the board to administer its provisions within this province, under the chairmanship of James C. Murray, will be $10,000, according to Hon. R. G. Reid, Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Municipal Affairs.

In further explanation of the workings of the act, the Minister said that for every $100 of loan made the Dominion, province and borrower would each take $5 worth of stock. The spread between the price the Government borrowed money for loans and the interest charged borrowers would be one and one-half per cent. In other words, if the Government borrowed at the 5 per cent the borrower would be charged six and one-half.

On a $10,000 loan, the borrower would take $500 worth of stock in the loan board and dividends would be equal to 25 per cent of the capital stock will be set up. The spread between the price the Government borrowed money for loans and the interest charged borrowers would be one and one-half per cent. In other words, if the Government borrowed at the 5 per cent the borrower would be charged six and one-half.

While terms of the act provided that loans would be made either direct to farmers or through co-operative societies, the minister said that until further notice, loans would be made direct to the farmers concerned. The Dominion Government will subscribe to the loan fund to an amount not exceeding $5,000,000 and a reserve fund equal to 25 per cent of the capital stock will be set up. The Dominion Board will consist of four members, one of whom will be the Minister of Finance. Money will be raised by issuing and selling bonds known as Canadian Farm Loan Bonds, by taking security on first mortgages and other means. Loans can be used by farmers for all agricultural purposes.

Loans, however, only will be made to farmers actually engaged in or about to be engaged in farming the land mortgaged for purposes of the loan. Prior to making loans, the board will be empowered to inquire into the character and farming ability of the applicants. Loans will be repayable in equal annual or semi-annual installments on principle and interest. As announced by the Minister on Saturday, the headquarters of the board will be in this city and the board will commence functioning as early as possible.

SPORTS

TWO CAMROSE BOYS MAKE GOOD IN HOCKEY CIRCLES

Two Camrose boys, August Marker and Ray Sanders, well known in local hockey circles, have been making good with two widely separated professional teams. August Marker has been playing with the Tulsa, Okla., team in such company as Duke Keats, Bob Trapp, Leo La France, Frank Sheppard and Andy Moran, all well known ex-Canadian professional players. Ray Sanders has been a regular player on the defence of the Moose Jaw Tigers, and is regularly featured for his excellent playing in news dispatches. The Tigers recently conducted a tour of the Maritime provinces, where, while they did not clean up all the games, they made a very creditable showing.

LIQUOR IN HOTELS

The request of Ontario hotelmen that either drinking should not be permitted in hotel rooms or hotelmen should be given control of the use of liquor on their premises is from a number of viewpoints reasonable according to the Peterborough Examiner.

The privilege granted under the Liquor Control Act to guests of hotels to have and consume liquor in their rooms has had unfortunate results, as far as the hotelmen are concerned. It has led to abuses to drunken parties, annoyance to other guests, and a large amount of damage to hotel property, damage the proprietors are not always able to recover from those responsible.

It is true that to some extent these same conditions prevailed under the old Act, but hotelmen had some chance to deal with the evil when the use of liquor in rooms was illegal; under the present system there is nothing they can do but grin and bear it.

The Government would do well to pay some attention to that aspect of the Liquor Control Act and endeavor to arrive at a solution more satisfactory than the present system.

And what the Examiner says of conditions in Ontario might also well apply to Alberta.

Warm the liniment, spread it on brown paper and cover the affected parts. It eases pain, relieves stiffness.

The family medicine chest.

THE MODERN WAY

A friend of mine bought a gramophone for a dollar down and a dollar a week. This is the easiest graft I've known.

So he bought a chair and a fountain pen.

A runabout car and a stove, and then, a set of "Lives of Our Famous Men" for

A dollar down and a dollar a week.

Then he bought two brand new radio sets,

For a dollar down and a dollar a week.

And a dozen cartons of cigarettes, for,

A dollar down and a dollar a week.

Then he bought a ring that was fair to see.

For the lily white hand of his bride-to-be.

And after the wedding the minister's fee

Was a dollar down and a dollar a week.

Then he bought a house for his family

At a dollar down and a dollar a week.

And when they got sick the doctor's fee

Was a dollar down and a dollar a week.

Then his wife said I must be free,

These weekly payments are ruining me!

So she got a divorce—and the alimony

Was a dollar down and a dollar a week.

MAKING A LAWN

It is vitally important to get the soil in proper condition before the grass seed is sown in making a lawn. It is a fairly simple matter to make the ground level before the seed is sown, but after that the job is one that requires years of patient work. Make sure that the surface is level. The easiest way to do this is to dig well, preferably of course in the Fall, but it is too late for that now. Clear out everything in the way of stones, sticks and roots, and rake level. Now, let the soil get a chance to settle; the rains will do this, and a late frost will help.

Rake level again, and repeat two or three times. This may take a week or two but it is well worth while. In fact, unless one is in a great hurry it is best to put the space aside for the lawn in some cultivated crop like potatoes for a season in order to have the ground settle properly. When everything is ready, select the best seed obtainable. This is another very important point. Lawn seed can be secured at prices which vary widely. Sometimes, the beginner is tempted to purchase the lower-priced article but he will be disappointed when his lawn gets ragged and coarse after the first year. Cheap seed makes a fine showing very quickly but as they contain a high percentage of coarse grasses, they fade as quickly. Good seed from reputable merchants is cheap insurance. One pound of seed is needed for every 200 sq. feet. Sow during the evening or on a quiet day, roll or pound in thoroughly, and cut with a very sharp mower when the grass is a few inches high.

A FEW MINUTES ARE 7

That elastic phrase "a few minutes," which is the bane of all punctual people, has at last been nailed to earth. A Judge of the King's Bench in London, England, has valiantly buckled on his sword and set out to do battle. Heretofore "a few minutes" has been a will-o-the-wisp, something intangible, which has covered a multitude of crimes of negligence.

It all happened when a barrister was called from the court room and sent back word to the Judge that he would return "in a few minutes."

"How many minutes is that?" asked the Judge. "I don't think it will be more than twenty." "Twenty minutes is more than a few," said his lordship, and with a judicial pause "I think that seven minutes is the end of a few."

This is something of importance to know. It is a disputed matter between maidens and lovers, husbands and wives, children and parents. It causes bursts of rage, endless misunderstandings and a prodigious waste of time. Henceforth, the matter is settled. Seven minutes is the end of a few and after seven minutes of waiting all obligations are at an end. You are free.

The notice "Boy Wanted" was displayed in the window, and Jimmy Jones, after gazing at it thoughtfully for a minute or two stepped into the shop.

"What kind of a boy do you want?" he asked the owner.

"Oh, a decent sort of a lad—one who is quick and willing, one who won't fuss about with a cigarette between his lips, and whistle, one who knows his manner, one—"

Jimmy Jones thrust his hands in his pockets and eyed the shopkeeper contemptuously.

"Garn!" he cried. "You don't want a boy at all. You want a girl!"

"Good Equipment Makes a Good Farmer Better"

Published by N. OSWALD
Wetaskiwin Farm Equipment Man

Watch for the "News" each week. Suggestions and news items invited.

N. OSWALD, Editor.

The present-day short skirt is an abbreviated garment that makes most women look shorter and men longer.

McCormick-Deering Bumper Disk Harrows are built to stand hard work. The crimped disks are made of the best quality heat-treated, disc steel. The main frame is all steel.

Large, fat lady: "Officer, could you see me across the street?" Policeman: "Sure and begorry, lady, I could see you a mile 'r more."

McCormick-Deering Bumper Disk Harrows have heat-treated, crimped-center disks as standard equipment. These disks are from 50 to 100 per cent stronger than ordinary disks.

How To Mark Your Tools. Cover the steel parts of your tools, such as chisels, saws, axes, hammer, etc., with a coating of wax. Then scratch your name through this wax, with a nail. Now put just enough hydrochloric acid in these wax grooves to fill them. Let the acid stand in these grooves over night. In the morning wash the tool in scalding water, then rub it vigorously to get rid of the excess acid. You will find your name etched right into the steel.

In making a turn with the McCormick-Tandem Bumper Disk Harrow, the draft bars telescope, which prevents twisting either frame, in making a sharp turn.

Nothing is easier than getting one's hair bobbed, and nothing is much harder to take care of when it grows out.

The McCormick-Deering Wide Type Disk Harrow will cover from 40 to 70 acres a day in summer-fallow and is unexcelled for preparing wheat ground. It is made also in 14 and 21-foot sizes.

This year's styles are to cut evening gowns still lower in the back—which will be good news for the mosquitoes.

Which do you prefer, a rider or a walker? We can provide you with a McCormick-Deering Spring-Tooth Harrow in either style. We claim to please.

It is said a shark won't bite any swimmer who keeps his legs moving, but you can't depend on us to test the theory.

McCormick-Deering Steel Chain is die cut, heat-treated, drawn through oil, and then baked in creosote to increase its resistance to rust. Don't accept anything else.

AN OUTDOORS DIARY

(By Frank L. Farley, Camrose)
April 12.—A bird migration little known to the people of Alberta, takes place during March and April every year. Included in this northward movement are the redpoll, pine grosbeak, evening grosbeak, and that kooky of the bird-world, the Bohemian waxwing. These birds come to us every fall, in October and November, some remaining here, while many press on further south to spend the winter. They are now on their return journey, leisurely traveling towards their summer home.

Redpolls are the most regular and plentiful of these winter visitors, always gregarious, and often seen in flocks of hundreds. Their numbers in Camrose during the past week have been largely augmented by new arrivals from the south. They are feeding on the seeds of the pigweed in the vacant lots of the town and fields of the country. Today several flocks passed high over town, their sharp metallic notes could easily be heard, while it was impossible to get a glimpse of them hundreds of feet above the earth. It would be difficult to calculate the number of bushels of weed seeds consumed by these little finches every season as they pass through the province. As destroyers of weed seeds they are of inestimable value to the country. It is fortunate for them that they migrate much earlier than the small hawks, otherwise their numbers would be greatly lessened by the depredations of these fowl of the air.

Pine grosbeaks are much larger than redpolls, and seldom appear in the same numbers. This bird is the one so often mistaken for robins every spring on account of the reddish tint of the male. While here its food consists of the dried berries of the buckbrush and other native shrubs. Along the Battle and Saskatchewan rivers, the grosbeaks congregate on the southern slopes where food is plentiful, and at night spend the long, cold hours in the thick branches of the evergreens.

An Irishman who had jumped into the water to save a man from drowning on receiving assistance from the rescued man, looked first at the sixpence and then at the man, saying: "Be jabbers, I am overpaid on that job."

The Canadian Pacific has in excess of 91,000 employees and its yearly pay-roll is approximately $125,000,000.

"The announcement by the Atlantic steamship lines of reduced rates on cabin ships coincides with the opening of an Atlantic travel season in which the cabin type of ship reaches a standard of equipment and accommodation never hitherto reached and during which more cabin ships than ever will sail to and from Europe. The advent of reduced rates also harmonizes with the policy of many world governments to abolish passport visa fees. Ocean tourist travel is quickly getting back to pre-war conditions but greatly enhanced by bigger and better ships," says William Baird, Steamship Passenger Traffic Manager, Canadian Pacific Steamships Limited.

Orders for Canadian cheese cable from Great Britain, demonstrate its popularity overseas and the confidence placed in our grading methods, according to Doctor J. A. Ruddick, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, who states that the British demand for Canadian cheese is at the peak.

Between four and five thousand bags of Garnet wheat are being shipped from Fort William to be tested by millers in Great Britain. Reports of the reception given these samples will be available before this year's crop is ripe, government officials expect. If these prove favourable the future of this early ripening variety should be assured.

Beef grading in Canada will be established shortly under regulations framed by the Dominion Government, R. S. Hamer, chief of the cattle division of the Department of Agriculture, announced at the annual meeting of the Ontario Cattle Breeder's Association in Toronto the other day. The proposed system will be a voluntary one and will be confined to municipalities with facilities for inspection and grading at the time of the slaughtering. The aim in view is the establishing of better cattle.

MAKING BREAKFAST BETTER

(By Barbara B. Brooks)
If a questionnaire were to be sent to every family living in a country asking how many really enjoyed breakfast what proportion of answers would be in the affirmative? In so many households breakfast is a scramble with every one in a hurry and at least one person having got out of the wrong side of the bed. The atmosphere of the breakfast table may affect the whole day and it is of real importance to at least give the opportunity of a well served, leisurely breakfast to the members of the family.

The first precaution to take is to get people out of bed in plenty of time—easier said than done! The second is to have breakfast ready when they come to the dining room and the third is to have food prepared and served in an appealing manner.

Ready to eat cereals are particularly convenient to have on hand. They permit catering to varied preferences and cause no additional work. Corn, rice and wheat cereals are on the market ready for use.

The following breakfast menus are well-balanced and suggest a variety of fruits and cereals:

Stewed prunes or apricots, cornflakes, milk or cream, bacon, bran muffins, coffee (or caffeine free coffee) or milk.

Grapefruit sweetened with honey, shredded whole wheat biscuits, milk or cream, scrambled eggs, toast, coffee (or caffeine free coffee) or milk.

Canned peaches, oatmeal, milk or cream, broiled ham, hot rolls, coffee (or caffeine free coffee) or milk.

Oranges, cereal, milk or cream, poached eggs on toast, toast, coffee (or caffeine free coffee) or milk.

Stewed figs, cornflakes, milk or cream, boiled eggs, Graham toast, coffee (or caffeine free coffee) or milk.

Berries, wheat cereal (ready to eat), milk or cream, cold fish cakes, rolls, coffee or caffeine free coffee) or milk.

Oranges and prunes, bran waffles with bacon, coffee (or caffeine free coffee) or milk.

How far would you go to be sure of a better Oil-?

Knowing that a better oil means smoother performance, longer life, greater economy and bigger trade-in-value for your car, you'd probably go a long way to be sure of a better oil.

That's what Imperial Oil Limited did—went all the way to tropical South America for the crude out of which to refine Marvelube.

There's lots of crude oil available right at Canada's front door. If Canada's largest and most modern refineries had been able to evolve as good an oil as Marvelube from locally available crude they would have been glad to do so. Peruvian crude made a pure, carbon-free, fuller-bodied oil—an oil that meant better lubrication—so Peruvian crude was decided upon.

The decision set a new standard in motor oils. Aircraft operators, the most particular buyers of oil, are enthusiastic about Marvelube because it has given them a longer period of operation between engine overhauls, and greater margin of safety.

You can enjoy the same benefits in your car, and there is a grade of Marvelube that is refined to meet the exact requirements of your car. Consult the Marvelube chart at good service stations and dealers everywhere.

Alberta Fisheries Increasing in Importance

Fish to the value of $370,428 were caught in Alberta lakes and rivers in the fiscal year ending March 31, 1929, according to statistics issued by the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa. Of this amount $729,334 represents the commercial catch. White fish headed the list with a total of 2,733,000 pounds valued at $350,793; trout stands second with 1,337,100 pounds valued at $22,312 and pickerel third with $54,500 pounds worth $92,160. In addition to this the value of miscellaneous fish caught under commercial licenses is placed at $5,844. The total number of commercial licenses issued during the year was 1,144. Domestic licenses numbered 286 while 976 free permits were given to Indians and half breeds. Under these classes of permits 1,348,000 pounds of fish were caught to the value of $67,449. None of this fish was sold, however, the licenses carrying no commercial privileges.

Interest Shown in Alberta Salt Deposits

Sir Thomas Tait, president of the Canadian Salt Co., Windsor, Ont., will shortly pay a visit of inspection to the salt deposits in northern Alberta according to information received by Hon. V. W. Smith, Minister of Railways and Telephones. In his position as head of the largest company of its kind in the Dominion, Sir Thomas is reported to be interested in possible developments in this promising Alberta industry.

Lacombe Boy Wins Fine Trophy Edward Chessor, 12 years old, of Lacombe, was awarded the Prince of Wales silver challenge shield and the first cash prize of $100 in the beef section of the Boys' and Girls' Calf Feeding Competition at the Edmonton Spring Show during the past week. The calf which headed the 58 entries in the competition was from the Short-horn herd on the Lacombe farm of Dr. P. R. Talbot, Provincial Veterinarian. A record for an Edmonton show ring was established when this fine animal sold at auction on Friday afternoon for $200 per pound, being purchased by the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., Edmonton, and weighing 790 pounds.

Repatriated Canadians for Peace River District

Marking the beginning of a considerable movement of people of French-Canadian origin who are returning to Canada from the New England States, a party consisting of 187 new settlers passed through Edmonton last week on their way to a number of districts in the Peace River country. Settlement will be principally in the vicinity of Kathleen, southeast of McLean, where a new parish is being established. Included in the party were a large number of young married men well equipped with capital who will return for their wives and families after for homes have been prepared on the farms selected in Northern Alberta.

Prizes Offered for Best Wheat Crop Substantial prizes will be awarded in a competition sponsored by the Stately Board of Trade and the Vulcan and Nanton Agricultural Societies for the best ten acres of wheat in Southern Alberta during the coming season. The decision to organize the competition followed a speaking tour by Major H. G. L. Strango and D. H. Galbraith, M.L.A., under the auspices of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association and the committee in charge of the recent "Better Seed Campaign" promoted under the direction of the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

Department Issues New Bulletins Two new bulletins have recently been issued by different branches of the Alberta Department of Agriculture and are now available for distribution. The first of these "Home Decoration" is published by the Alberta Women's Bureau and will be found to be of particular interest to those interested in home beautifying. The second, entitled "Turkey Breeding and Management" is issued by the Poultry Branch and contains a great deal of valuable information dealing with this profitable farm product.

Government Telephone System Expanding

Work has started on the new exchange building for the Alberta Government Telephone at Drumheller and tenders will be called for shortly on new buildings to be erected at Hanna, St. Paul and Grande Prairie. Continuous service was established during the past month at Chipman, Nobleford and Delburne exchanges. Service in Calgary reached a new mark during the past week with the installation of the twenty thousandth telephone in the city.

INTERESTING NEWS LETTER FROM ALBERTA WHEAT POOL

Alberta Co-operative Wheat Producers Limited changed its name to the Alberta Wheat Pool, on Monday, April 15th. This change was made largely because the more lengthy official name has never been used, and the Wheat Pool has been the recognized name of the organization.

Provost Pool elevator has passed Foremost in total handlings in the 1928 crop. Foremost led the Alberta Pool list for some time, but the last official report from the elevator department gave Provost handlings of 368,000 and Foremost 367,000.

In a recent talk given over the Alberta Pool radio, O. Z. Buchanan, Western sales manager for the Wheat Pool, detailed the published report that the Pool was tied up with a Japanese tea importing firm and could not sell direct to China. Mr. Buchanan stated that the Wheat Pool was not tied up with any one concern in the Orient and sold considerable quantity of wheat to various Japanese mills this year direct.

A notable feature of Pool meetings held throughout the province this year has been the intense interest taken by the membership in every phase of the Pool organization business. The attendance at most of these meetings has been splendid and the discussion period showed the earnest desire of the membership for all possible information about their own organization.

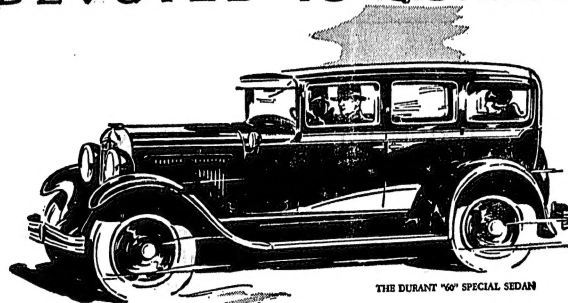

WHEN TEA WAS TWENTY SHILLINGS A POUND

Tea-drinking is now so universal a custom that it is hard to believe that at one time was an epicurean luxury, and sold from ten to twenty-five shillings a pound. Nevertheless, as late as the mid-Victorian era a tea caddy filled with a pound of tea was a very handsome present. In the eighteenth century tea-drinking was considered a fashionable pastime, and Sydney Smith, in "Lady Holland's Memoirs," quotes her as saying: "Thank God for tea! What would the world do without tea?—how did it exist? I was glad I was not born before tea."

It was the custom then to keep tea in handsome tea caddies. In a recent article in the "London Daily Express" sent to the Shikha Tea Company, the following interesting account is given of the origin and importance of the tea caddy.

The old-fashioned tea caddy was invariably beautiful in its proportions and intimate in its associations. It is, moreover, a rare thing today to find two caddies alike. The prettiest and most charming were made between 1775 and 1801. At first they were made of mahogany or of satinwood, inlaid with other choice woods, and sometimes painted with flowers or scrolls. Later on they were made of lacquer, or tortoiseshell, or silver, or of ivory, sometimes inlaid with silver and gold and mother-of-pearl, and with borders of tortoiseshell—caddies fit for King Solomon's palace, if Solomon had known the blessing of tea. Some of the finest cabinet-makers of the period including Chippendale and Hepplewhite, exercised their talents to design tea caddies.

Besides these treasures, some were made of neatly-cut straw work, laid in geometrical patterns, over a wooden box, for such straw work was a hobby of the day. Some stand on little feet, some have a tiny handle on the lid, and all have dainty keyholes. Delicious little cabinets, indeed!

The word "caddy" comes from a Chinese word, "catty," meaning a parcel of tea weighing about one pound and a third, for so the Chinese merchants were accustomed to make up their tea.

The possessor of an old-fashioned caddy should treasure it, and use it for its original purpose. The collecting of old tea caddies has become quite a hobby in the United States, Great Britain and Canada.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1928, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE 13

The English players who have been trying out the information double since the very first time, with their customary independence, they have refused to adopt all of the American rules. The following question from an article on the information double by a well-known English writer should be very interesting:

"So far as can be observed, the epidemic of doubling informally is abating, and this double is being played in a much more restrained manner than a few months ago. There appears to be a general desire to make the use of this double as simple as possible, so that every player readily knows whether a double by his partner is informal or business. The Americans, as usual, are making this convention a very complicated one, but so far as this country is concerned, the information double seems to be played on the following lines:

"1. A double of 'one' of a suit or of 'one No-Trump' is an Informal Double whether the doubler or the doubler's partner has previously bid or not.

"2. A double of 'two' of a suit is Informal unless the doubler or the doubler's partner has previously bid.

"3. A double of 'three' of a suit or of 'Three No-Trumps' is always Business.

"There is common sense in the above, because one practically never wants to double 'one No-Trump' or 'one' of a suit for business purposes, and these doubles can therefore always be Informal; while for the opposite reason, a double of 'two No-Trumps' or of 'three' of a suit should always be for business purposes."

Whether or not you agree with the English view-point of the information double, you cannot help but admit that it is a sensible one and probably prevents much of the confusion that is prevalent in America.

Here is an interesting hand that has just been submitted:

A recent survey of Canadian industries shows 6,500 groups of articles fully or partially manufactured in the Dominion, while approximately 1,600 Canadian firms or corporations are active exporters.

A fourteen-year-old Danish Boy Scout, Pallo Hult, recently travelled around the world in forty-four days.

His trip was part of the celebration of the one hundredth birthday of Jules Verne, who wrote "Around the World in Eighty Days." The only baggage Pallo carried, were a tooth-brush.

Scientists who have been making a study of the movements of butterflies and moths have discovered that these insects often travel great distances.

Ships in East Indian waters anchored twenty miles from shore are sometimes visited at night by swarms of moths that are attracted by the bright lights.

Butterflies and dragon-flies were also among the visitors. The monarch butterfly is said to be the greatest of insect travelers. It flies sometimes from Florida to the Arctic Circle where in summer myriads of flowers spring up and offer good feeding-grounds for flower-loving insects.

Aviation in Canada is developing rapidly. A recent official compilation disclosed there are 333 aeroplanes in operation in the Dominion compared with 101 early in 1928. Of the total of 33 planes, 246 are engaged in commercial work and 87 in the service of the Canadian Federal and Provincial Government on forest protective work, map photography, mail carrying and a variety of other tasks that call for speed.

There are now forty-four air harbors in Canada as compared with twenty-five at the beginning of 1928. Licenses held by commercial pilots as at January 1, 1929, number 190 or more than four times the number held on the corresponding date last year.

The demand for modern farm machinery in Western Canada is, according to a recent survey, greater than the supply. The survey discloses a tremendous increase during 1928 in the sales of farm machinery. Farm tractor sales increased last year seventy-seven per cent over 1927 and sixty-seven per cent over 1926, previously the largest year in tractor sales in Western Canada. The sales in 1928 of harvester-threshers, popularly known as combines, increased 61 per cent over sales in 1927. The total number of farm tractors sold in the three prairie provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, in 1928, was 17,143, an increase over 1927 of 7,117. The distribution of the 1928 sales was, 2,200 in Manitoba; 8,703 in Saskatchewan and 6,241 in Alberta.

GIRL GUIDE NOTES

The Girl Guides held their weekly meeting last Wednesday in the Armorey. During the first part of the meeting the girls reviewed their whistle and hand signals. The Tender-foot Guides were directed in their work by the patrol leaders. Miss

Walker gave the girls a lesson on words, after that the girls played a game. It was decided that marks would be given for games and the work of the Guides. The patrol obtaining the most marks at the end of each month would get the shield for the following month. The meeting was ended by the singing of "Taps" and party tickets all his life, drove his team in front of a doctor's office at Tofield, and stepping inside, said:

"Doc, the first time you are out our way I wish you'd stop and see my wife." "Is she sick," asked the man of pills and lotions. "Not exactly," the farmer replied, "what's the trouble, then?" asked the doctor.

"Well," the farmer replied, "this morning she got up at the regular hour, about four o'clock, milked the cows, got breakfast for the hands, done her housework, churned, and along about ten o'clock she felt a little tired. I expect she needs a tonic, or something."
